Jen, Dave, & MacGyver...on Election Night!

Albertans have spoken: you have entrusted your government with a renewed mandate to tackle the pressures of today, while securing the opportunities of tomorrow. Our record in the past speaks for itself—we have built the strongest economy in North America, with world class quality of life and the lowest taxes; but we cannot take our many advantages for granted, and we must not become complacent. We must focus on the qualities that made Alberta strong over its first century: hard work, self-reliance, entrepreneurship, and a respect for law and order—if we are to secure for our province’s prosperity in it’s second century.

This government has presented a clear, realistic, and positive plan to build a strong and stable future; and Albertans have embraced that plan, by rewarding us with their trust. My colleagues and I are ready, willing, and able to act and deliver on new ideas and new energy, including Premier Stelmach’s goals:

- * improving the efficiency and effectiveness of health care delivery
- * providing roads, schools, hospitals, and other public infrastructure to meet the needs of a growing province
- * developing our energy resources in a sustainable way
- * adding value to our exports, and broadening Alberta’s economy
- * ensuring that—as our province grow—strong and safe communities remain at the heart of our quality of life

I am honoured to continue to serve as your MLA. One of my new duties, as personally requested by the Premier, is to assist in directing our cabinet, caucus, government, and province; by serving on the “Agenda &

Priorities Committee”. This is a key position of influence in Alberta; and I truly appreciate the opportunity! Premier also asked me to serve as Chair of the All-Party Field Policy Committee, which investigates important current issues—making recommendations on how to make Alberta even better in the future! While balancing needs from across the province, I will keep the issues of Calgary Lougheed at the forefront of the agenda, including the Calgary Southwest Ringroad; ensuring that the Alberta advantage applies to everyone; and concentrating our efforts on childcare, eldercare, youth, & security...based on your feedback and support!
